

Paths International Ltd is a UK registered company established in 2002. It was established with the purpose of bringing high quality academic and professional content written and developed in Asia to Europe and North America. The company has co-publishing arrangements with several leading publishers in India and continues to strengthen relationships with leading publishers in China.

The recent emergence of China as a major international publishing centre and the arrival of e-books as an instant and global means for delivering content occurred almost hand in hand. Thus the company now has only one goal, mission and focus to provide e-books about China from China.

Paths International Ltd is now making available e-books written by Chinese authors from some of the most prestigious universities and institutions in the country. It offers a view of China from experts in China. Change in China is not a single event, it is a process and many of these e-books bring clarity to the blur of recent and ongoing change in that country.

Chinese business, economics and finance are of vital importance to the world outside China and insightful analyses of these subjects are provided in many of our titles. However, an understanding and appreciation of China is incomplete without trying to examine China's society, history and culture as well as its international relations. Therefore we frame a very broad canvas on which to present information about China.
